Argentine Rebels Strike In Paraguay

By NESTOR VERDINA

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP)—Fighting was reported today against armed invaders seeking to overthrow the strongman government of Alfredo Stroessner.

The government said casualties had been inflicted on the rebels, who struck across the jungles from Argentina.

Paraguay sources in Argentina said several columns of Paraguayan exiles had launched invasions from Brazil as well as Argentina.

Paraguay air force planes bombed the battleground on the upper reaches of the Parana River that forms the boundary between Paraguay and Argentina's Misiones province.

The rest of Paraguay was officially described as calm.

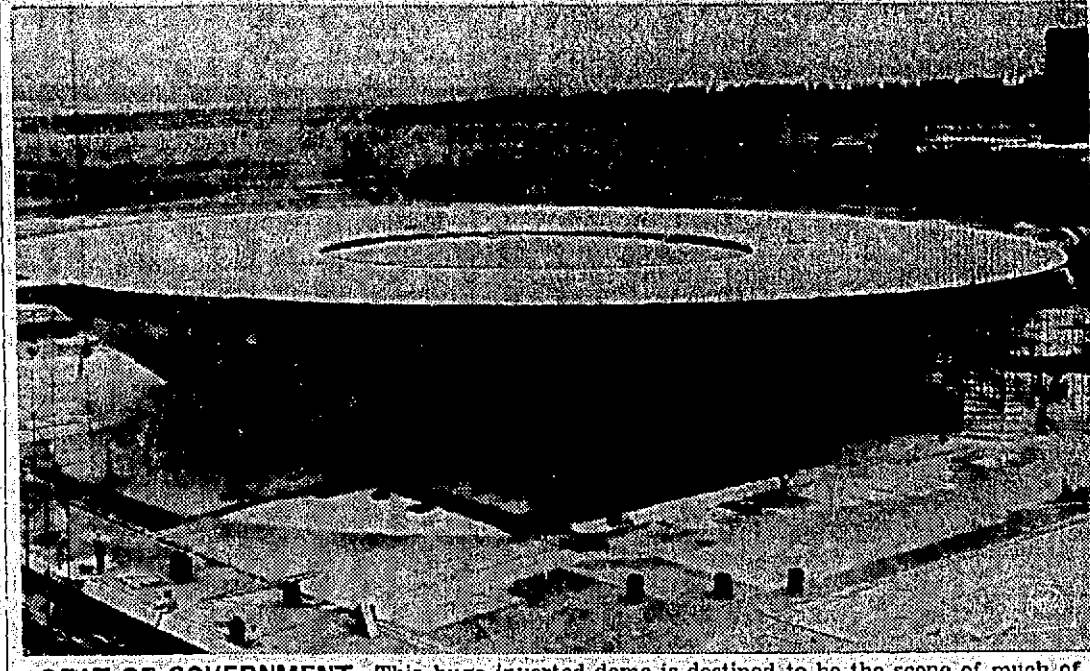

The rebels appeared in greater strength than an invasion force of about 1,000 men which was repulsed last December.

A communique said one insurgent band of about 500 men was beaten off Friday in attacking the tropical jungle town of Porto Carlos Antonio Lopez on the Parana River.

The Interior Ministry admitted the fall of the village of Colonia Otario, only 10 miles away, to 50 rebels but said the town was defended by only five policemen.

The Stroessner government charged that the invaders were equipped with Argentine weapons.

Civilian militiamen were reported to have joined local police in putting up a stiff fight when the invaders moved into southeastern Paraguay.

SEAT OF GOVERNMENT—This huge inverted dome is destined to be the scene of much of the future history of Brazil. Its interior is the Brazilian Senate chamber. Situated atop the Senate Building, the dome dwarfs workers who hurry to complete it in the city of Brasilia in the heart of the country. The unfinished city is the new capital of the South American land.

Hope Clubs to Host a HD Tour, Meet

Hempstead HD Clubs will be host to a five county tour and meeting here Tuesday, May 3, it was announced by Mrs. Lester Kent, County Council President.

This session is a part of the National HD Week observance.

Representatives from Howard, Pike, Nevada and Lafayette counties will visit here. The group will visit Arkla Village at Ermet during the morning, meeting at the courthouse at 9:30 a.m. During the afternoon the tour will go to Washington.

Official registration will be held at 11 a.m. at Fair park where lunch will be served at noon. A program will be held from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. Principal speaker for the program will be Miss Mattie Hackett of Lafayette County who will discuss "Women in a Changing World." Chamber of Commerce Manager B. N. Holt will also address the group which will be welcomed by Mrs. Kent.

Fish Farming Problems Are Discussed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A group of experts today began preliminary exploration into problems connected with fish farming in Arkansas.

The group included fish biologists, farmers and market representatives.

The meeting was sponsored by the State Chamber of Commerce. Joe C. Hardin of Grady, chairman of the chamber's agriculture committee and a fish farmer himself, said the fish industry could be saved. "We can revive it," he said. "What we need is a shot in the arm."

Hardin, a gubernatorial candidate, indicated he had experienced something less than success in his fish farming operations.

Market representatives said one problem was that consumers were demanding catfish while most production was buffalo, a less appealing fish.

Several persons suggested that fish farming should be emphasized in its own right rather than be regarded as an alternate in rotation with some other crop, such as rice.

Pollution Test for AF Base

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force told Rep. W. F. Norrell (D-Ark.) yesterday that it plans to install meters by June 15 to determine whether the Little Rock Air Force Base is exceeding its maximum sewage and causing pollution of Bayou Metro.

Norrell has asked the Air Force and Jacksonville city officials to act quickly to end pollution of the stream, which winds through several Arkansas counties.

The Air Force said technical difficulties have prevented it from installing the meters, but it hopes to have them installed by June 15.

Cotton to Set a New Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Department of Agriculture says world cotton production is setting a new high for the second year in a row.

The 1959-60 harvest was estimated the previous high in 1958-59 by 3,200,000 bales.

The 1959 U.S. crop totalled 14 1/2 million bales, or three million more than in 1958.

Opponent Granted Equal Time on Air

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission today ruled an unusual type regular radio newscast by a West Virginia sheriff running for Congress entitles his opponent to equal time on the air.

The interpretation was the first of its kind since Congress last year amended the law to exempt bona fide news programs from the equal time provisions of the communications act.

Stanley R. Cox Jr., seeking the Republican nomination for Congress in the 2nd West Virginia District filed the complaint. He said Morgantown station WCLG had refused to give him the same access to its microphone as Sheriff Charles J. Whiston, who personally presents a regular non-sponsored program over WCLG.

Arkansan Is Presbytery Moderator

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The new moderator of the Southern Presbyterian Church is Dr. Marion A. Boggs of Little Rock, Ark.

He won a close election over Dr. R. Matthew Lynn of Midland, Tex., 260-251 last night. Two other nominees—Dr. James Sprunt of Staunton, Va., and Dr. Henry E. Russell of Memphis, Tenn.—were eliminated in a first ballot.

Boggs, minister of the Second Presbyterian Church in Little Rock since 1939, is a former moderator of the Synod of Arkansas. He is a graduate of Davidson College, Union Theological Seminary and Arkansas College.

He succeeds Dr. Ernest Trice Thompson of Richmond, Va., whose final action as moderator was to place in the minutes of the opening session of the 100th general assembly a joint "message to the nation."

The message endorsed birth control and said racial discrimination has no place in the church.

"The bringing of children into the world is a privilege not to be lightly or selfishly evaded by married couples," the statement said. "On the other hand, the responsibility of prospective parents obligates them to consider well how their children are to be provided with that which will make for their best physical, cultural, moral and spiritual development."

"If man and wife are not to be denied mutual fulfillment in the sexual relation, and if society is not to be penalized by the unplanned and irresponsible production of children, it will follow that access to information regarding the best methods of birth control is the right of all married couples and the provision of this information the duty of a responsible society," the statement said.

On segregation the message said, "no human differences such as the color of men's skins can annul the fact of their essential equality or justify any discrimination based on denial of it."

Each Area Should Clean Up Highway

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The president of the State Chamber of Commerce says he has checked to individual communities the problem of cleaning up along the state's highways.

Marvin Melton of Jonesboro talked to civic leaders and club members from 12 counties here yesterday about the clean-up.

"This is do-it-yourself time," Melton said.

He said he had met with groups from 58 of the state's 75 counties since last November and that local programs would begin Sunday.

A good showing Saturday would almost establish McKinney as the state's first unit man.

Faubus Gives Boost to Lt. Governor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Orval E. Faubus boosted Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon in his bid for re-election last night, but avoided mention of his own race for a fourth term as governor.

Faubus spoke to a meeting of the Morrison Junior Chamber of Commerce on Petit Jean Mountain. The basis of his talk was a review of the accomplishments of his administration, a theme he has used frequently for several months.

Elsewhere on the political front, gubernatorial candidate Bruce Bennett continued his verbal lambasting of Faubus, calling the governor a hypocrite for his relationship with Little Rock merchants.

Joe C. Hardin, a strong contender to the governor's race, met with a state Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee, which he heads, to discuss fish farming in Arkansas.

For Millis Jr. of Siloam Springs, who entered the race a few hours before the Democratic ticket closed, went on record as being chiefly concerned with Arkansas' financial status. He said he opposes the state income tax.

There was no word from Dr. H. E. Williams president of Southern Baptist College at Walnut Ridge, the fifth candidate in the race.

Today Faubus is scheduled to speak at a meeting of the Potomac River Watershed Council at Mansfield High School. Tonight he is expected to address a junior-senior high school banquet at Charleston.

Faubus received a warm welcome from the more than 100 Jaycees at the Petit Jean meeting.

He was introduced by Gordon, whom Faubus later lauded.

"With as many friends as Nathan has," said the governor, "and

McKinney to Cement His Position

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—George McKinney will be out to cement his position as first team Arkansas quarterback tomorrow in a game-condition scrimmage in Razorback Stadium.

It will be the first such workout of the Porkers spring training season.

McKinney, a junior who lettered last season, will try to become the Porkers' second field general in a row from Texarkana. His predecessor, Jim Monroe, also was a student of coach Walt Myers at Texarkana, Tex., High School.

Monroe ran out of eligibility after last season, leaving a big hole in the hog backfield. McKinney, his understudy, is the logical man to replace him, but the young quarterback still is unsteady in his passing.

Arkansas coach Frank Broyles says McKinney's aerial game has improved considerably since last fall, and that spring practice sessions are showing the improvement. McKinney works on accuracy in the field house before regular grid drills. He never has had trouble getting the ball away, but incompletions and interceptions have dogged him.

McKinney is getting competition from Sonny Holmes and Billy Moore, both of whom will see much action in the coming season. They will quarterback the second and third teams in Saturday's scrimmage.

A good showing Saturday would almost establish McKinney as the state's first unit man.

Lawyers Start Last Try to Save Chessman

By JOHN R. WARD

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Caryl Chessman's attorneys today prepared last-ditch legal strategy aimed at saving the calm, hawk-nosed convict author from San Quentin's green gas chamber Monday.

George T. Davis planned a new application for a writ of habeas corpus which he said would raise questions of federal due process. He asked William I. Sullivan, clerk of the State Supreme Court, to be on hand at noon today to accept it for filing.

The condemned Los Angeles red-light bandit's petition for a clemency recommendation was denied by the court Friday for the third time, 4-3, after an unusual late-day session of two hours, 40 minutes.

At San Quentin, Warden Fred Dickson arranged a last news conference for Chessman at 10 a.m. 48 hours before the six-foot convict's ninth date with death in the octagonal chamber.

Despite the chins-up statement by his attorneys, it appeared the 38-year-old self-labeled writer was approaching the end of his nearly 12 years on death row. Chessman will be 39 on May 27, if he lives.

He accepted calmly the news of the court's action. After inquiring about the vote, he told a guard lieutenant: "Thank you very much."

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, in Oakland for the garden show reception, telephoned his Sacramento office and issued this statement: "This means my hands are still completely tied. I am powerless to take any action."

The governor opposes capital punishment, but he cannot commute the death sentence of a twice-convicted felon unless the Supreme Court so recommends.

The court's decision ruled out any further petitions for a clemency recommendation.

Thinks Cities of Gomorrah, Sodom Found

By SPIRO ELISSA

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—A Baptist missionary explorer believes he and three other American divers have found the wicked Biblical cities of Sodom and Gomorrah on the bottom of the Dead Sea.

Dr. Ralph E. Bancy of Kansas City, Mo., in an interview Thursday night told of finding extensive underwater remains of a civilization that flourished 4,000 years and then was inundated, apparently after an earthquake.

He said he and his divers found a levee 15 feet wide and 8 feet high under the waters of the inland sea between Jordan and Israel. The levee ran from a southwestern point of the Lisan Peninsula due west for two miles.

The levee, he continued, in Biblical times kept the salty waters of the sea from flowing into the fertile plains to the south. He believes an earthquake collapsed the levee, and the sea engulfed the cities behind it.

"We have located two cities under the Dead Sea water which are believed to be the two lost cities of Sodom and Gomorrah," Bancy said. "One of these cities we have located in the Lisan Peninsula Bay. The other is due west of the northern point of the Lisan Peninsula."

The Bible says the Lord rained down fire and brimstone to destroy Sodom, Gomorrah, and the neighboring cities of Adama, Seboin and Bala (later called Segor) for the vices of their inhabitants.

Angels led Abraham's nephew, Lot, his wife and two daughters out of Sodom to spare them, but Lot's wife looked back and was turned into a pillar of salt, according to the Bible story.

Bancy has been exploring the sea bottom since early February with Viola Conway of Kansas City, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Ryher of Kansas City, Kan.

Bancy is executive director of the Christian Approach Mission, which runs an orphanage in Bethlehem.

Taffic Death Toll

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic death toll in March was the lowest for any March in 11 years.

The 2,400 highway deaths in March this year, the National Safety Council said, represented a 16 per cent decrease from the total of 2,860 in March 1959. The council said the decrease was the greatest for any month since 1947.

'Grass Roots' Opera Move to Replace Music Festival Here on Tuesday, May 3

By MARY ANITA LASETER

A "grass roots" label has often been given to things political, but did you ever hear of a Grass Roots Opera Movement? We are going to have the results of one in Hope next week.

The idea for such a movement began in Raleigh, N. C. There a music-loving lawyer, A. J. Fletcher, got tired of travelling to New York to hear opera at the Metropolitan Opera House. Under his guidance a group of local people formed what they called the Grass Roots Opera Co.

Home grown tenors, sopranos, and basses who are also accountants, clerks, dentists, housewives, students, and even a doctor, formed the company which toured the state by car and bus to bring the good music to towns that had never heard opera before. These performances not only gave the listeners an increased music appreciation but were valuable in giving young singers a chance to appear in opera.

Audiences were enthusiastic. Perhaps it was due to the fact the operas were sung in English by local people whose talents had only been "partially hidden lights" until then. The movement took wings and spread widely until there are now nearly 500 groups in 45 states giving some 2,400 performances a year.

Not only a standard repertoire but also many contemporary works were performed. Our own local folks heard such an opera by a contemporary American composer earlier in the season when "The Sire de Maletril" by John Duke was performed with Gilbert Thomas and a group from the Shoreport Opera Co.

Encouraged by the response to this program the Friday Music Club will present another evening of opera on Tuesday, May 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the Hope High School auditorium. All local singers will be used in the Music Week program which will replace the music festival now in its 11th year.

Excerpts from "La Boheme" with star Gilbert Thomas, Hope O'Grady, and the Friday "Cloral Club, The High School Glee Club will give selections from "Faust" with Miss Tena Pilkinton as soloist and a male chorus singing the "Soldiers Chorus." Miss Susan Davis of Henderson State Teachers College will also contribute a group of operatic arias. There will be no admission charge.

A wonderful opportunity to hear beautiful music beautifully sung will present itself to us all next Tuesday night. How happy we are that the Grass Roots Opera Movement has reached Hope.

Gov. Faubus Sidestepped Question

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus today sidestepped specific questions about the forthcoming gubernatorial campaign as he met newsmen for the first time since the ticket for the July 20 Democratic primary closed.

The governor did say he plans to kick off his bid for a fourth term in mid-June and that he'll have headquarters in the same downtown West Main Street building from which he operated in 1958.

Faubus declined to speculate on which of four opponents may give him the most trouble.

To say whether he has a promise of support from Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) who escaped opposition in his bid for another term.

To discuss his plans for a campaign organization and the kind of campaign he intends to wage.

Pressed for details on the kind of campaign, he plans, Faubus said, "A successful one."

"It's too early to climb into the top branches," Faubus said as he parried questions with grins and laughs.

The governor said he was not personally acquainted with his last opponent, Hal Millis Jr. of Siloam Springs, who filed two hours before the deadline at noon yesterday.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, the Rev. H. E. Williams, president of Southern Baptist College at Walnut Ridge, and Joe C. Hardin of Grady had entered the race previously.

Although he would not discuss campaign issues, Faubus said the fourth term issue would not make much impression on voters. But he added, his opponents might make much of it.

All Faubus would say on the subject of campaign finances was, "I don't think I'll be the richest."

Soviet Trawler Snooping Near U. S. Sub Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy sighted a Soviet trawler Tuesday snooping around 60 miles off Long Island, within a mile of the spot where the new Polaris submarine, George Washington, was testing its missile launching apparatus.

The Navy said Friday the same ship, the Vega, was spotted the next day off Norfolk, Va., the home base of most of the Atlantic fleet.

There was nothing the Navy could do about it. In both cases the trawler was in international waters and had every legal right to stay there. The Navy continued its tests with the George Washington, which involved shooting dummy Polaris missiles from the ship to the surface.

Presumably the Vega was equipped with sonar, the underwater listening equipment fishermen now use to hunt schools of fish. It is just as effective in listening to submarines. The Navy knows the Soviet ship had radar, because it took photographs of it that showed the characteristic antennae.

In February 1959 a party from a Navy destroyer boarded another Soviet trawler off Newfoundland, after a series of breaks in transatlantic cables that might have been caused by the trawler's drags. This was done under an international law to protect undersea cables.

"That Soviet ship was on fishing grounds widely used by fishing vessels from many nations. The Navy partly saw nothing to indicate the ship was equipped for anything but trawling."

But the Vega, the Navy said, was in areas rarely used by foreign flag commercial fishermen. However, the area off Long Island often is used for maneuvers by submarines based at New London, Conn.

The Vega was photographed by a Navy blimp from Lakehurst, N.J., which was on patrol when the Soviet vessel was sighted.

Operators of Clip Joint Sentenced

CHICAGO (AP)—Operators of an alleged tavern clip joint which fleeced convention visitors from many parts of the nation of more than 200,000 were handed jolting prison sentences today in U. S. District Court.

The penalties: David Doran, 53, bartender, 25 years; Dominick Abrascia, 27, cab driver, 10 years; Julius Grieco, 44, businessman, 15 years; Joseph Lo Celso, 33, cab driver, 2 years; Alice Harris, 67, Miami Beach restaurant owner, 2 years; Nate Schulman, 57, businessman 1 year; Amadio Di Domenico, 43, businessman, 1 year.

All were convicted of mail fraud and of interstate transportation of forged and altered checks. Their alleged scheme operated thus:

Convention visitors, looking for a night of fun, were taken by the cab driver to a west Madison street bar, since closed. There, with the urging of hostesses, they ran up big bar bills. When it came time to pay, the men were told they could settle by check.

In some instances liquor was spilled on the checks, supposedly voiding them, and the customers were asked to write new ones. When the patrons reached their home cities they found both checks had been cashed.

Execution Dates Set in Hamm Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus today set execution dates for four Miller County Negroes convicted in the robbery, slaying of an elderly white man.

Rogers Boone, 26, and James Moore, 22, are scheduled to die May 20.

The four were tried twice and convicted both times in the 1939 slaying of M. R. Hamm, 76, near Texarkana. The robbery netted $10.

Mrs. Syd McMath Hostess To Tuesday Bridge Club
Roses, iris, and chrysanthemums were seen in the home of Mrs. Syd McMath when she was hostess to a meeting of her Tuesday Bridge Club on April 26. The two tables of players included members and two guests, Mrs. Comer Boyett and Mrs. John Barlow.

The high scorer for the afternoon was Mrs. Barlow, and Mrs. E. J. Whitman was second high. Mrs. B. C. Hyatt was a tea guest later when dessert and coffee were served for refreshments.

Hope Duplicate Bridge Club Meets at Diamond
The Hope Duplicate Bridge Club had four tables of players for its weekly session on April 25 at the Diamond. Mrs. R. T. Wilson and Mrs. J. M. Duffie were the highest scoring couple.

Mrs. Marie Hendrix and Mrs. Harry Hawthorne were second high. A tie for third place found the couples of Mrs. Bill Wray and Mike Kelly and of Dr. George Wright and R. L. Broach both holding that position.

Mrs. Crit Stuart, Jr. Hostess To Tuesday Night Bridge Club
On April 26 Mrs. Crit Stuart, Jr. was hostess to her Tuesday

Night Bridge Club. Lovely iris, pansies, and roses were seen in pretty bouquets in the home, Mrs. George Frazier and Mrs. E. P. Young, Jr. were club guests.

Mrs. Johnny Brannan was the high score winner for the evening. Mrs. Young was second high, and Mrs. Homer Jones won the game prize. Dessert and coffee were served to two tables of players.

The Monthly Ladies Bridge Luncheon Meets at Hope Country Club
The Monthly Ladies Bridge Luncheon at the Hope Country Club was held on April 28 with Mrs. R. L. Broach, Mrs. John Hatley, and Mrs. Fra Berger as co-hostesses. The mantle held a lovely arrangement of red leaf plum and white iris in brass.

A delicious pot luck luncheon was served from a table overlaid with a green cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow iris and Scotch broom. The meal was eaten from smaller tables, each of which was covered by a different pastel colored cloth with a small bouquet of roses in the center.

When bridge was played from five tables, the highest scorer was Mrs. Lloyd Guerin. Mrs. K. G. Hamilton and Mrs. Charles Harrell were second and third high, respectively. The game prize went to Mrs. Bill Roulton. The only out-of-town guest was Mrs. Comer Boyett, Jr., of Searcy.

Rocky Mound Home Demonstration Club Meets
The Rocky Mound Home Demonstration Club met April 21, in the home of Mrs. Charles Emrick. The Resurrection of Christ was the topic of an interesting devotional given by the hostess, followed by prayer. The song leader led the group in singing "Help Somebody Today." Each member answered the roll call by telling her favorite breakfast. The Home Management leader, Mrs. Messer, gave an interesting report on "Care of the home," which led to a discussion.

Refreshments were served to 8 members, 1 visitor, Mrs. Allen, and a new member, Mrs. G. W. Cleveland. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Floyd Pharris.

Pupils of Mrs. Jack Brown Have Recital
A piano recital by the pupils of Mrs. Jack Brown was held on April 28 at 7:30 p.m. at the Spring Hill Methodist Church. The following pupils appeared on the program: David Beasley, Deborah Powell, Sarah Louise Brown, Pat Huckabee, Pam Butler, Elizabeth Ann Beasley, Diane Anderson, Ann Cato, Jack Kidd, Gloria Cato. Pupils from Hope who were on the program as guests were: Rose Ann Williams, Brenda Sue Parris and Dendell McCormick.

Earlier he had said a group of hard-core integrationists amassed a large fund to effect his defeat. The governor wouldn't say at today's news conference which of his foes would get this "fund."

Faubus has never identified any member of the integrationist group. He said he would do this during the campaign.

The governor said his office has not pressured state employees to contribute to his campaign fund and that various department heads have been instructed not to exert such pressure.

Faubus had said previously that integrationists were trying to get what he called a "hatchet man" into the gubernatorial race. He said today the man they were dickering with did not enter. Again he declined to identify the man.

The governor wouldn't say which candidate, if any, he will support in the Fifth District congressional race between Rep. Dale Alford (D-Ark) and state Sen. Robert Hays Williams of Russellville.

When a newsman prefaced a question about this race with the remark, "you supported Alford in 1958," the governor replied, "That is not a matter of record."

Young, Jr., served the pink frosted punch. Minis and nuts were also served to about 35 guests.

Mrs. S. L. Murphy Entertains Tuesday Bridge Club
Mrs. S. L. Murphy decorated her home with pretty spring flowers when she entertained her Tuesday Bridge Club on the afternoon of April 26. The one club guest, Mrs. Allen Murphy of Lock Port, Ill., also won the high score prize.

The prize went to Mrs. John Britt. During refreshment hour a dessert plate and coffee were served to two tables of players.

Chapter AE of the P. E. O. Meets
At the meeting of Chapter AE of the P. E. O. on April 26 reports were heard of the state convention in Harrison the previous week by those from Hope who attended. Mrs. E. P. O'Neil, local chapter president, Mrs. Jim McKenzie, convention delegate, and Mrs. F. M. Horton, newly installed first vice president of the state organization.

The home of Mrs. Herbert Stephens at Blevins was the scene of the chapter meeting. Spring flowers that graced the home included many kinds of lovely iris. After a tasty dessert plate was served, the 12 members enjoyed coffee in beautiful demi tasse cups.

Mrs. Bryant Kelly Hostess To Cosmopolitan Club
The Cosmopolitan Club met on Tuesday night, April 26 in the home of Mrs. Kelly Bryant with Mrs. George Newbern as assistant hostess. During a business meeting the present slate of officers was re-elected for another year.

For her Favorite Interest Mrs. Royce Smith chose to present Old Pictures, and she had secured old snapshots of every member of the club unbeknown to any of them. The clever interest proved to be most enjoyable to all.

Mrs. R. E. Jackson reviewed "The Status Seekers" by Vance Packard. Red roses and white chrysanthemums decorated the home, and a frozen salad with coffee were served for refreshments to 14 members. The May meeting will be a dinner at the Diamond.

minor injuries after a week of work, but no serious ones. Bruce Fullerton, a junior high school boy, was out yesterday with a back ailment. Fullback Paul Dudley has had an ankle injury but worked out yesterday.

Coach Frank Broyles missed yesterday's workout. He went to Georgia Tech Hall of Fame. Broyles was a 10-letter Yellow-jacket during his playing days.

He went over the work schedule carefully before leaving and practice progressed yesterday as usual.

The crowd for tomorrow's scrimmage is expected to reach 3,000. The state Lions Convention is being held at Fayetteville over the weekend with 800 Lions due to attend.

Many of them are expected to watch the Hogs frolic in between convention sessions.

Cancer Fatal to Spy for FBI

NEW YORK (AP) — Stephanie (Stevie) Harvath, New York, detective who spent five years as an undercover agent spying on Communist activities, died Wednesday night of cancer. She was 48.

She joined the police department in October 1942. Four months later the attractive, dark-haired woman became a card-carrying Communist party member under the name "Miss Stephanie Reidel."

She left the party in 1947 and testified on Communist activities before a number of groups, including the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. She was credited by police officials with ferreting out a number of Communist party members.

DOROTHY DIX

May Girl of 16 Continue Friendship With Married Man?

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I am a girl of 16. Through the church, in which I am quite active, I have met a man, of 26 who has a lovely wife and three beautiful children. I make no bones about my friendship with all five, but have become especially close to this man. I have absolutely no romantic interest in him, but he is someone with whom I can discuss my most important problems. (My parents never let me talk anything over with them.)

Is there anything wrong in a relationship like this? Those in the church look upon it with favor. His wife gives her blessing.

I worry because my girl friend told me that because he is young and good looking, people will talk. Please answer in your column. My mother reads my mail. —T.L.P.

Dear T.L.P.: There is no reason why this happy relationship which means so much to you should terminate if the wife is included. Otherwise, as your girl friend warns, people will talk. Don't give them cause.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

Please send your pamphlet on "Shy Beau." My grandson has just completed four years' service in the Air Force, is 23, and comes home.

Bob said, "Gee, Mrs. Holmes, you don't think everyone waits till they're 21, do you? But I never saw Tim drink anything but beer before. Seems like he—well—he didn't want to come home. There was a chick—I mean a girl—he didn't want to see."

Rose said, "He had a row with her."

"Well anyway, he took it on the chin," said Bob. "Man, was he ever convulsed! And there were plenty of other good numbers."

He caught himself, and got up, adding, "We'd better get going; our folks will worry, and we've a good 50 miles to go—that is, if you don't think you need us."

In the morning while Tim still slept, Rose went down and made strong coffee and found the Bromo bottle. Luckily it wasn't one of Olive's days. Olive was fine and her mother even better, but the story would be all over town in no time flat. They thrived on drama, the people who worked for you, not realizing the drama of their own lives; and thriving passed it along, one to the other.

She heard Tim coming downstairs and his heart stuttered with apprehension; she was plain, downright afraid. She didn't want to see him; she didn't know what to say or do.

He came into the kitchen, wearing his usual slacks, moccasins, T shirt. He looked like himself and alive, it washed out.

Rose spoke first. "Hi," she said brightly.

"Hi!" Tim responded. He did not smile. He did not come around the table to kiss her, the brief butting with his nose against her cheek to which she was accustomed. He stood by the table and said, "I'm sorry, Mom."

"Let's talk later. How's for coffee?"

"Got a sharp axe?" he inquired gloomily.

Chapter XXIII
A day or so later, she had a letter from Karen, postmarked Denver and on hotel stationery. It said only that she was well and added, "I've been gyping. Sometimes I rent a car for a while, and stop wherever it suits me and I can find a room. This is an awfully big country. I've met people and almost everyone is kind. I've been trying to think about things. I'm all right. Rose, I hope you are. Love to you and the kids. I'm leaving here tomorrow."

Rose kept her promise, called Pete and told him she'd heard. Karen hadn't said no to, so she read him the short letter over the wire. He was silent a moment, then asked, "She didn't say more?"

"No," she felt a quick exasperation. Why should he assume she'd hold something back?

"Well," he said, "I can't get in a car and chase her all over the U.S.A. ... God knows where she will have gone!" by now."

Tim came home with Bluff, for a weekend. A day or so before Rose expected him, she met Kate on the street. Kate was slimmer than ever, very tanned, her hair was shorter than usual and looked even redder. She said politely that she hoped Rose had had a nice summer. The Cape was utterly divine.

"Tim's coming home," Rose said. "I expect him any time—someone's driving him down."

Kate's young face was smooth as ice cream, and expressionless as marble. She said, "I hope he's having a fun-summer though I expect he wasn't mad about passing the canned peas. Give him my best," and added with the condescension of slight seniority, "Debbie, to."

When Tim arrived, it was not as Rose expected. It was at night, long after dinner, and the two boys with him helped him in. They didn't quite carry him, but almost. Bluff raring anxiously around their heels.

The outer door was open, the screen door unlatched, and Rose, hearing the commotion, came from the study. She said sharply, "Tim's hurt?"

She'd never seen these boys before; one was scarlet, the other white with embarrassment.

Rose said, "He's drunk!"

The other boy spoke then. He said, "Well, maybe a little ... Look, Mrs. Holmes, can't we get him upstairs or somewhere? He's likely to be sick again."

They stumbled upstairs with him, following her. She thought, leading the way: Thank heaven Debbie isn't here. They put him on his bed and made shoing motions at her. They said, in whispers, "We'll look after him, Mrs. Holmes."

Their names were, she gathered, Bob and Mill.

She went out and waited in her room until they emerged from Tim's. Then Mill—or Bob—came out and said, comfortingly, "He's put like a light. Mrs. Holmes, and we got him undressed."

She said, "You boys better have coffee."

They'd been drinking, to: she could smell it, but they talked straight, were competent and on their feet.

After a while she got them straightened out. Bob was a classmate of Tim's; he'd been at summer school to make up a course; Mill was older, and like Tim had waited on tables. Neither lived nearby.

She said, warning herself she mustn't scold or nag but could not—must not—ignore the situation. "Where did you get—I mean who'd serve you liquor at your age?"

Mill said, "I'm over 21. Mrs. Holmes. I bought it in a package store." He was the fair-skinned one who had turned scarlet when first she saw him; he was scarlet now.

Bob said, "Gee, Mrs. Holmes, you don't think everyone waits till they're 21, do you? But I never saw Tim drink anything but beer before. Seems like he—well—he didn't want to come home. There was a chick—I mean a girl—he didn't want to see."

Rose said, "He had a row with her."

"Well anyway, he took it on the chin," said Bob. "Man, was he ever convulsed! And there were plenty of other good numbers."

He caught himself, and got up, adding, "We'd better get going; our folks will worry, and we've a good 50 miles to go—that is, if you don't think you need us."

Waterworks Stock Split Okay

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A common stock split by General Waterworks Corp., which owns the Pine Bluff waterworks, was approved yesterday by the Arkansas Public Service Commission.
General Waterworks had asked permission to issue three new shares for each old share held by stockholders. The company estimated 66,000 new shares would be issued. The stock currently is valued at $25 a share.

To Televis Ike's Talk Nationally

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's speech here Monday night plugging for the administration's foreign aid program will be carried nationwide on television and radio.
The President's 30-minute address, starting at 9:30 p.m. EST, will be carried live by the ABC TV and radio networks, and by CBS and Mutual radio.
CBS plans a delayed telecast at 10:15 p.m. EST, and the ABC radio network also will broadcast the talk starting at that hour.

Census Shows 3 Cities Larger

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—At least three Arkansas cities have showed growth during the past decade, preliminary census figures have revealed, they are Conway, Jonesboro and Heber Springs. Jonesboro has increased in population by 32 per cent since 1950 and by 25 per cent since a special census in 1955. Its population is 21,237, the preliminary report showed.

Heber Springs' population is 2,109, an increase of 172 persons over the 1950 figure. Conway showed a population of 9,473 compared with 8,610 in 1950. Population figures on all three cities are expected to be higher when the final tabulation is made.

Organization for Whites Formed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An Arkansas chapter of the newly formed National Assn. for the Advancement of White People has been chartered as a non-profit corporation. Four Pulaski County housewives successfully petitioned Pulaski Circuit Judge J. Mitchell Cockrill for the charter yesterday.

Petitioners were Mrs. Margaret Morrison, a segregationist leader; Mrs. H. H. Ray, Mrs. William P. McCray and Mrs. W. Pennington. They were accompanied to court by Carl Olson of Bossier City, La., who came here to organize an Arkansas chapter. His city is the home of the first NAAWP group.

Articles of incorporation filed with the petition said the NAAWP would last for 99 years. Objectives of the group include opposition to activities of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, campaigning against forced integration and repeal of the federal income tax amendment to the Constitution.

Super Rocket Engines to Be Tested

NEW YORK (AP)—All eight engine rockets of the new Saturn super-rocket will be fired in a ground test for the first time in a day or two, says space scientist Werner Von Braun. Von Braun calls the test a milestone of progress, in which more than 1,200,000 pounds of thrust will be developed. The test-firing will take place at the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala., where Von Braun is director of the development and operations division.

Von Braun announced the test Thursday night in addressing the annual dinner of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. The dinner was the final event of the annual press week here in which leading newspaper groups participated.

POWER that sustains

may be found thru regular church attendance

THE STANDOUT

When you pray do you position yourself as bold men of God have done through the centuries? Do you kneel, bow your head, close your eyes to the world, or do you disregard these accepted conformities and bark your prayers erect? Do you pray with sincerity of soul or do you petition to be heard of men as did the Pharisees?

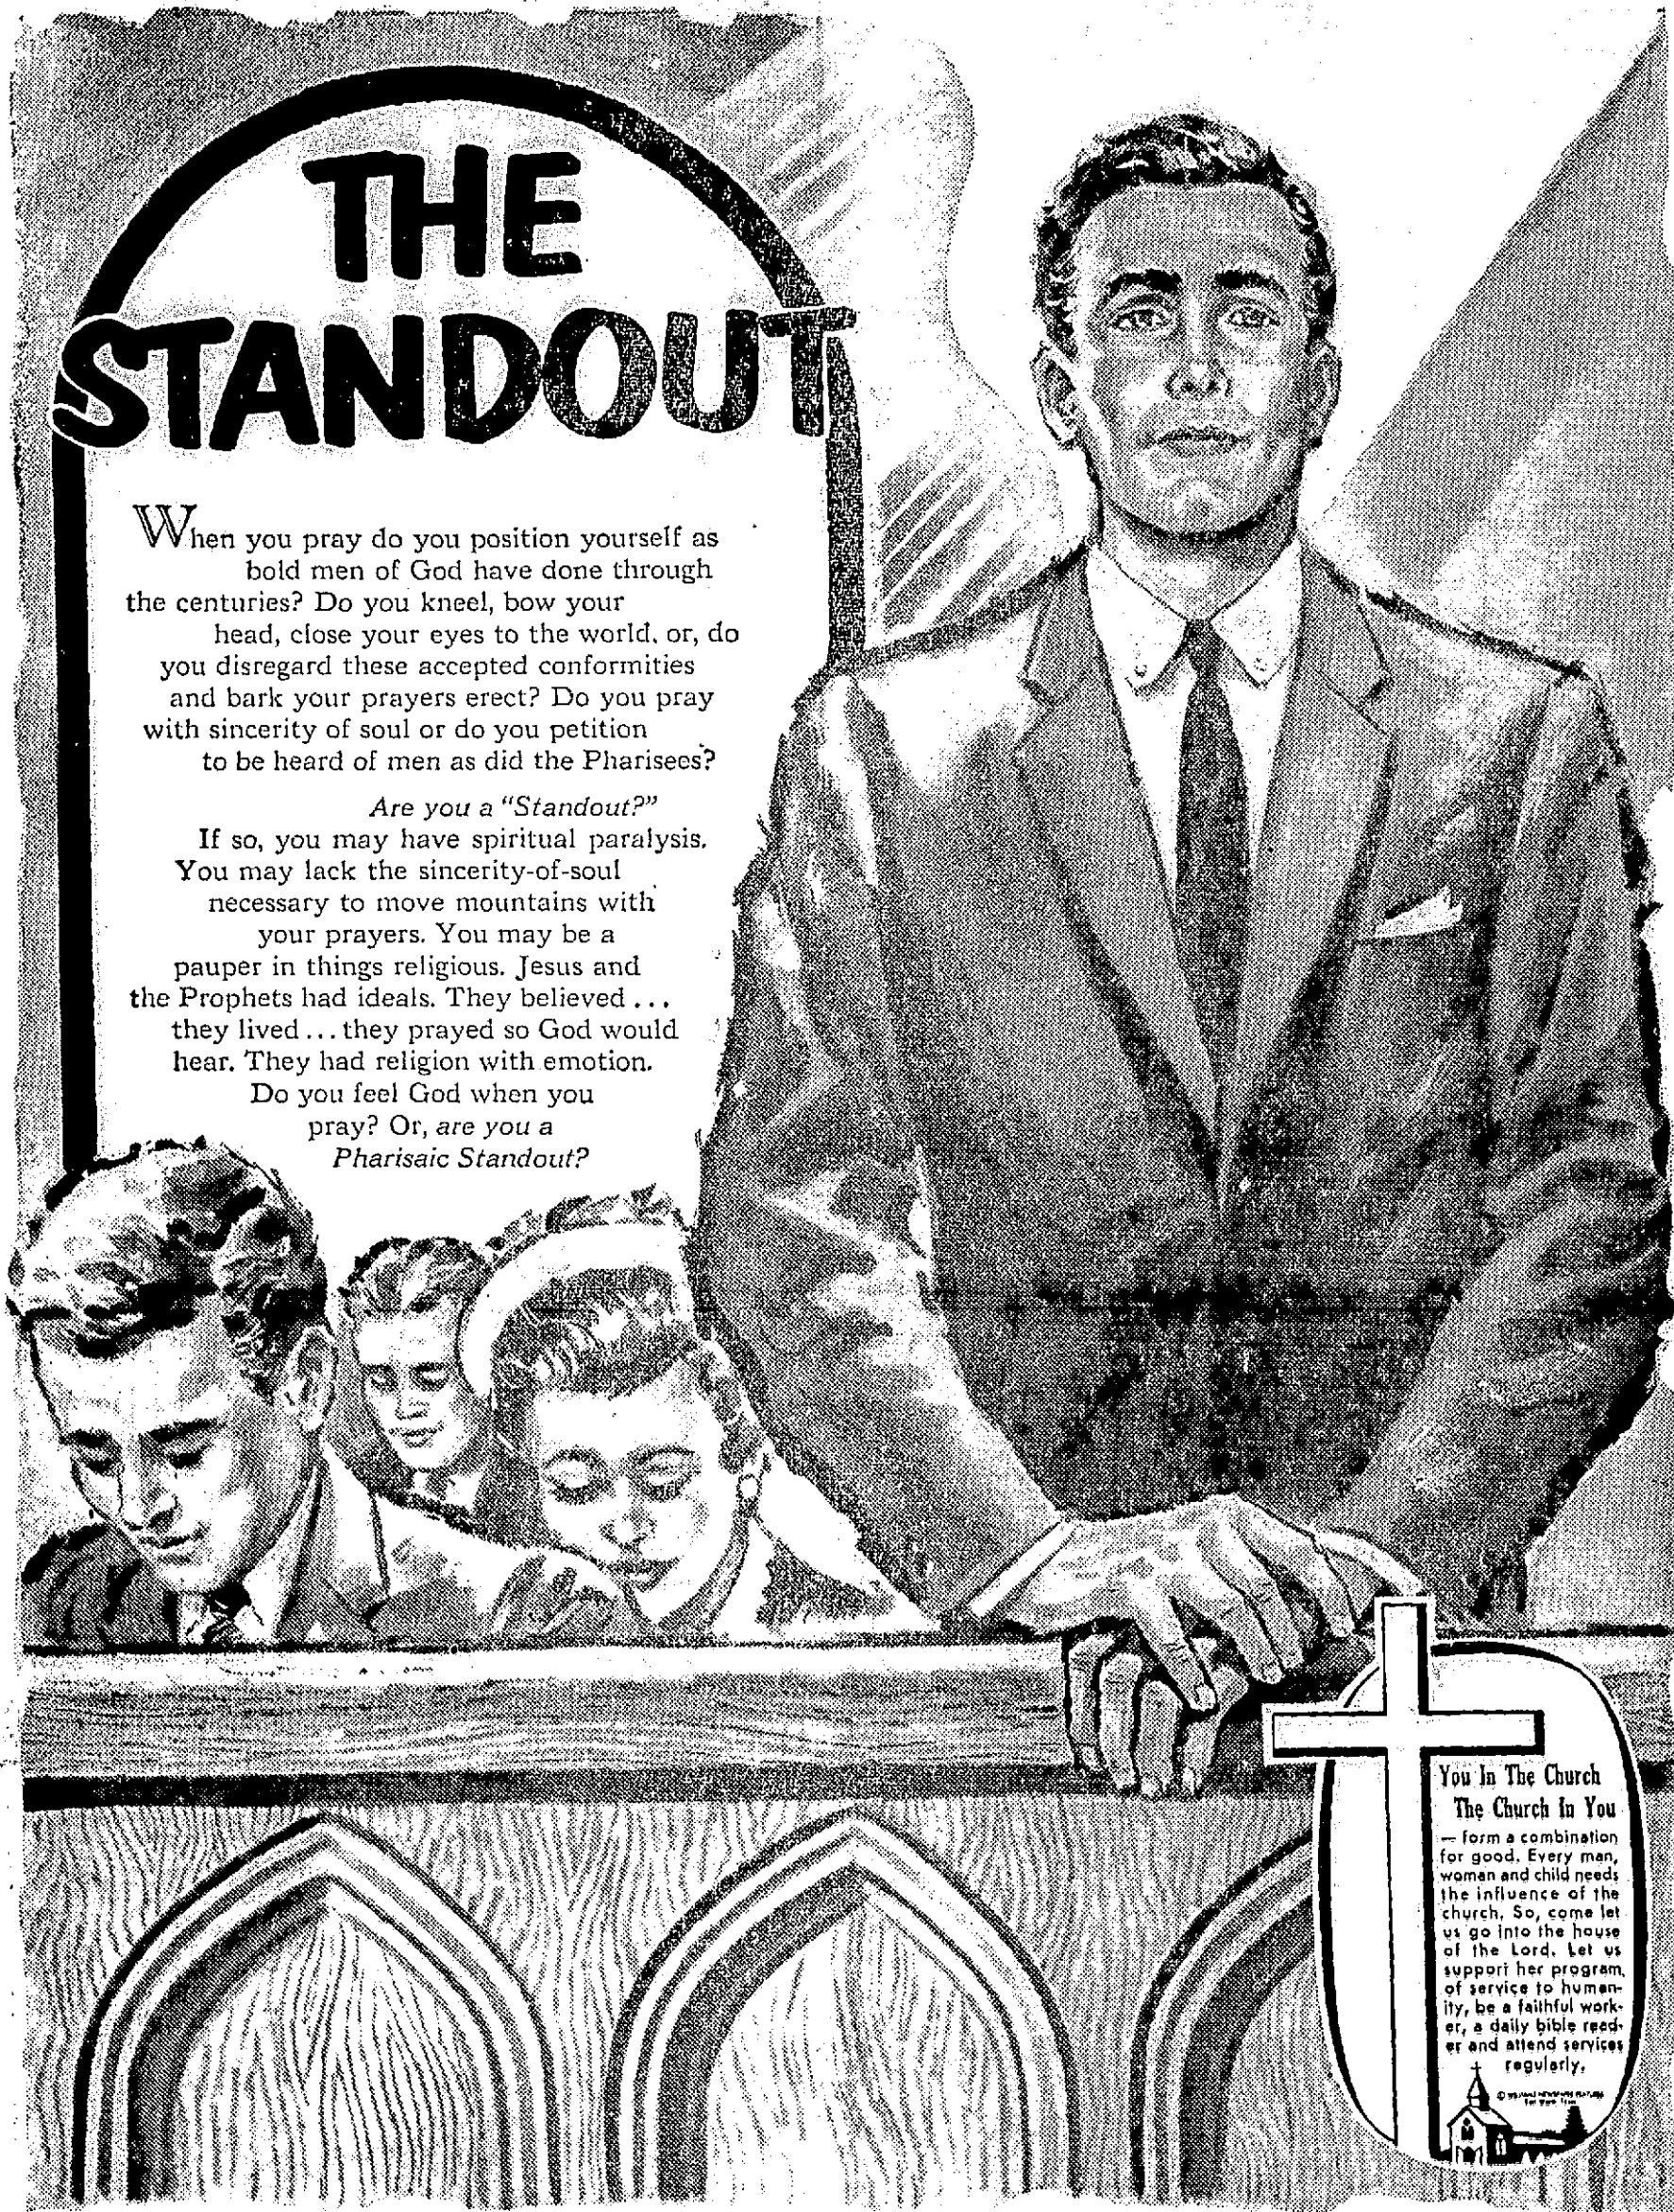

Are you a "Standout?"

If so, you may have spiritual paralysis. You may lack the sincerity-of-soul necessary to move mountains with your prayers. You may be a pauper in things religious. Jesus and the Prophets had ideals. They believed... they lived... they prayed so God would hear. They had religion with emotion.

Do you feel God when you pray? Or, are you a Pharisaic Standout?
